

Parenting Motivating Children by Story

Setiawan G Sasongko

Table of Content:

- 1. Motivating Children Is Very Important --- 4
- 2. How to Motivate Your Children by Story --- 6
- 3. Failed Guerrillas ---- 9

- 4. Lindung Be Ridiculed ---- 13
- 5. A Lesson for Iko ---- 17
- 6. Harmony Is The Best ---- 21
- 7. Little Spider ---- 25
- 8. Ant Warrior Stick ----- 30
- 9. A Mother and Death Angel ---- 34
- 10. Egg Seller ---- 38
- 11. New Commander ---- 42
- 12. Old Is Not Mean Useless ---- 46

Setiawan G. Sasongko, a writer, cartoonist, and illustrator. He make many themes of book: children stories, adventure stories, detective stories for children, teenage story, novels, short stories, mysterious stories, biography, etc.

Motivating Children Is Very Important

Educating and caring for children requires special skills. It can not be done by trial and error technique. If you do by trial and error technique, you will get a big loss. Then, what parents must do? Psychologist said that children motivating is very important. What is the meaning of motivating? It is the urge to do something. Motivating can arise from within or outside of one's.

To motivate your children can be adjusted with the goal to be achieved. For example, the motivating of religious life, to have a achievement in school, disciplined, etc. The motivating must be adapted to each character of your children, because each child has a different character. Children's motivation to learn, for example, is unstable. It can change any time, sometimes too vibrant, casual, or listless. Motivation is also a capital for the child to face the future challenges. By the motivation then children will always be enthusiastic and not forced to do an activity.

Many items that must be considered by parents to support their child development. Especially for you who have pre-school children, kindergarten, or elementary school. To get maximum outcome, it is better if motivating is done by parents and teachers. However, the children educating will be more successful if there is synergy between parents and teachers.

It is fine to give a gift when you motivate your children to be a champion. With a lure, "Mother will give you a gift if you reach the first rank in your class." Indeed, a gifts is one way to motivate your children. But it is become bad when your children only hunts the gift and ignore what is the main purpose of the gift. "I just want the gift, not the the other." Maybe your children become diligent to learn, but they do it only to get the gift, not more. And it will be worse if the gift promising make him just anxious. "Whether I will get the gift?"

By have the motivating skil, we can upgrade our children to a better direction. We can motivate them to be more disciplined, value their time, love reading books, love to learning, and so on. If you motivate them with the words, maybe your children will say that you are the fussy parent.

Today, the challenge of our children is more severe if compared to the situation of ten years ago. Indeed, our children are fortunate to use technology, especially in this internet era. But there are too serious challenges which arise from the technology. Not only the high targets to be achieved in the education, but also the other challenges such as the consumerist attitude which is very high, television or internet which ignores morality, etc. Now, to be “successful and safe” is a very heavy burden. Of course, parents and teachers get the impact. You can also buy the biographies of the successful people, such as a biography of the inventor so your children will be motivated to succeed like the figure. At least, your children can learn from the perseverance and the hard work to get something.

Tips to motivate your children:

1. To be diligent. Children will be motivated to positive direction when he realized that the diligent figure in the story become lucky and have a good life.
2. Although your children is look lazy but it is not forever. Your children will change their habits if you give them an understanding of benefit when they have positive habits.
3. Do not give a bad predicate to your children. Bad predicate would lower your children motivation.
4. Please, appreciate the uniqueness of your child! For example, maybe your children is not good at math but good at drawing. You must appreciate their unique abilities and simultaneously you encourage them to learn math.
5. Permitted to give a target, but do not to burden your children.
6. Give encouragement, especially for your children who 3 - 5 years old. This age is the optimal period of growth. Do not break their curiosity.
7. Give a praise. Look at what they have done and give them a compliment.
8. Give a gift. A gift become an effective motivation when given at the right time. Sometimes a gift promise make your child be anxious and stress because they afraid not get the gift.
9. Sometimes, punishment is also an motivation. For example, your children always plays a knife or matches, of course it is very dangerous. You can punish them by not buy candies when invite them to a shop.

How Motivating Your Children by Story?

It is not enough to motivate your children by give encouragement and heritage advice of your ancestor. Occasionally it is fine, but if you often do it your children will feel bored. Your ancestor's advice, maybe, was not able to apply in the present day. It is good to motivate your children and there are many way to do that. One of the way is by give them a motivating story because the enlightening stories give spirit to your children.

You can find story books with education theme, so your children love to reading books. You can say, "Let's read the book because book is the windows of science". You can give them a story book as a birthday gift, as an appreciation of their achievement, etc. The inspiring story can motivate your children without feel pressured. While there is a family library in your house, you must add it with the motivating books for children. But you must know that not all children books are the motivating book, not all of children books suitable for them, you must select it.....AND SO FORTH!

PLEASE,
GET THE COMPLETE E-BOOK!